Because the people who are crazy enough to think
they can change the world
are the ones who do.

"This is never going to work" is one of the sentences that drive me most. I am known for being highly energetic, laser-focused & visionary. My aim is to make a massive impact & create legacy - this is one of the reasons I decided to write a book with game-changing stories for everyday decisions. Here, my talent to explain complicated things in a simple way completes my skill-set to go full-speed.
